HEAT TERRIFIC!

Warmest Weather in Eleven Years Experienced Sunday.

THE MERCURY WAS AT 104 MARK

JUST AFTER NOON, AND DURING SEVERAL HOURS THE TEMPERATURE WAS HIGHER THAN 100. NO SUNSTROKES HAD BEEN REPORTED LAST NIGHT—THOUSANDS BOUGHT COMFORT IN THE COUNTRY—THE HOURLY RECORD.

Hour.	Temp.	Hour.	Temp.
8:10 a. m.	85	2:30 p. m.	102
9:10 a. m.	85	3:30 p. m.	102
10:10 a. m.	90	4:30 p. m.	101
11:10 a. m.	91	5:30 p. m.	100
12:10 p. m.	102	6:30 p. m.	96
Noon	103 1/2	7:30 p. m.	92
1:10 p. m.	104	8:30 p. m.	90
2:10 p. m.	103	9:30 p. m.	89
3:10 p. m.	102	Midnight	87

On Sunday, for the first time in eleven years, the temperature in this city reached the 104 mark. On the nineteenth of July, 1887, the Schnepf thermometer registered 104 1/2 degrees, which is the record for hot weather here. That day, by the way, fell on Sunday, too, and Weather Observer Schnepf, in the course of a conversation about the weather, remarked last night that it is a singular fact that most of the remarkably hot weather in Wheeling has come on the Sabbath. The record for 1897 was 103, on July 5.

As will be noted in the hourly record, printed above, the highest temperature was experienced earlier in the day than is usual. Ordinarily the highest point in temperature is reached at 3 or 4 p. m., but on Sunday the top-notch temperature was in evidence at 12:30 p. m. For several hours the temperature was above the 100 mark, and at 3 p. m. it had reached only 92 on its downward course.

So far as could be learned last night there had been no serious results following the very hot weather. However, it had been any other day of the week, with thousands toiling, doubtless there would be a record of fatalities to chronicle. It is indeed fortunate that such insufferable weather was inflicted upon the community on a day when it could be withstood with a minimum of suffering and an absence of serious results.

The people fought the heat in various ways. Thousands sought the country, with its shade and breezes; many went on the river excursions, several of which were run yesterday; the two parks were Meccas for their largest crowds of the summer, and the other people, well, they stayed at home, and a great number of them probably said things about "Old Sol" and his weather industry that would not grace the columns of a family newspaper.

Heat Effects Church Goes.

The suspension of evening services in many of the local churches, customary in the midsummer months, has begun. Among the churches that will not hold evening Sabbath services until September are St. Matthew's P. E., the English Lutheran and the United Presbyterian. The attendance in the evenings in some of the churches was limited to fifty persons since the hot weather began.

This Week We Clean Our Tables and Shelves Of Everything.

It is our custom at this time each year to commence cleaning our tables and shelves of everything in the line of summer goods and all odds and ends in heavy weights. Not a dollar's worth will be carried over to next season. Every vestige of our present stock must leave. Dozens of suits that were $12, a few number among them that were $15, choice $9.98. Scores of suits that were $15, a few that were $18, any of them at $11.48. To those who have attended our semi-annual clearing up sales it is unnecessary to call their attention to the genuineness of same. To those who have not, compare prices with those marked in plain figures on all our goods a week or a month ago. No midnight oil wasted in changing the tickets. The old price remain, and the new price that must clean them up takes its place.
